

Chris Haughey

Mr. Chris Haughey is founder and Head Elf of Tegu, a toy Company seeking to catalyze social change in Honduras. Chris runs Manufactura Tegu, the Company's manufacturing operation in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. From this post, Chris manages all aspects of Tegu's global supply chain and patent-pending manufacturing process. Chris is fluent in all aspects of Spanish, including applications for business, engineering and manufacturing, and manages a team of 49 workers at the Tegu factory. Chris plays a lead role in Tegu's USA-based product development process and is instituting lean manufacturing practices with his team in Honduras. Chris has lived in Honduras since he and his brother, Will, launched Tegu in 2009. Chris graduated from Stanford University with a BS in Mechanical Engineering and worked as management consultant with the Los Angeles practice of The Boston Consulting Group from 2004 to 2007. Chris and his wife, Cindy, live in Tegucigalpa, Honduras with their two chocolate labs, Sam and Sophie.