

Josh Chaffin

Mr. Josh Chaffin leads the Global Technical Group on Economic Strengthening and Child Protection, a sub-network of the Columbia University-led Care and Protection of Children in Crisis Learning Network. The Global Technical Group looks at ways to get better child protection outcomes from livelihoods programs in crisis-affected countries. Before coming to the Women's Refugee Commission, Mr. Chaffin worked at UNICEF headquarters managing a global corporate evaluation of UNICEF's work with and for adolescents. He holds a Masters Degree in International Affairs from Columbia University.

Jina Krause-Vilmar

As the Senior Program Officer for Livelihoods, Ms. Jina Krause-Vilmar manages the Women's Refugee Commission's Livelihoods program, which researches and develops guidelines on appropriate livelihoods for displaced women and youth. Prior to joining the Women's Refugee Commission, Ms. Krause-Vilmar was the Director of Programs at the Near East Foundation, where she supervised six country offices in the Middle East and North Africa. She has served as a Technical Assistance Consultant for the Resettlement office at the International Rescue Committee as well as Project Manager and Business Development Associate at Chemonics International.

Jennifer Schulte

As the Program Officer for Youth and Livelihoods, Ms. Jennifer Schulte manages the Youth and Livelihoods initiative at the Women's Refugee Commission (WRC), which conducts research to develop guidelines and technical resources for donors, practitioners and policy makers on the livelihoods need, capacities and aspirations of displaced youth. Prior to joining WRC, Ms. Schulte was a Gender and Development Specialist on the Economic Development Team of the International Center for Research on Women. Ms. Schulte earned her MSc in Gender Research from the London School of Economics, in addition to a Masters from King's College London and a Bachelors from Columbia University.