

Peter Broffman

Mr. Peter Broffman is Manager of Informal Education in Intel's Corporate Affairs Group. Peter is also worldwide program manager for the Intel® Learn Program, which reaches more than 250,000 young learners each year. Over the course of his career with Intel, Peter has served as Executive Director of the Intel Foundation, K-12 Education Manager, and was program manager for the Intel® Teach Getting Started and Intel® Teach Skills for Success courses. He has been involved in initiating many of Intel's key education programs, including Intel® Teach, the Intel Computer Clubhouse Network, and the Intel International Science and Engineering Fair. Prior to his work with Intel, Peter managed Social Policy for Security Pacific Bank in Seattle, WA. He was responsible for the bank's corporate charitable and business contributions, scholarship programs, and community relations. Peter has a law degree, and spent eight years as a consultant to government and the private sector on employee rights in the workplace, employment discrimination, and youth employment and training.